

Take Home message

We have sought to discover if there is a major high-penetrance susceptibility gene for testicular germ cell tumour (TGCT) by analysing whole-exome sequencing data in 962 men with TGCT and 1,644 cancer-free controls. We find no evidence for existence of this class of inherited susceptibility to TGCT.